"The management information produced through SAP Business ByDesign has been a revelation"

Alastair Easton, Operations Director, Agile Solutions

Agile Solutions is an independent consultancy focused on Information Management Solutions and specialising in ETL technology. Agile extend the value of data integration tools by introducing bespoke automation.

Due to Agile's ambitious and aggressive growth plans, its legacy business systems in sales, accounting, project management and consultancy needed to be updated. The company needed an integrated solution, a reduced dependence on manual spread sheets, and improved business insight.

In partnership with InCloud Solutions, Agile implemented SAP Business ByDesign. Alastair Easton, Operations Director, Agile Solutions says, "We were impressed from the beginning with the commitment of InCloud Solutions to making our project a success. They worked collaboratively, with an appropriate pace, and a reasonable budget. Their professional and helpful manner made working with them very easy. No question was too stupid for them! Their services were invaluable to us."

Information that used to reside in spread sheets and take excessive hours to enter, maintain and analyse, can now be viewed instantly and graphically by management, via any device. Drilling down easily into management information allows Agile to focus on current hot spots and rapidly address any issues. Rather than viewing business information in isolation, data from sales, project management, HR, accounting and consultancy is now all linked, which provides context, insight and strategy. The sales team and management can now access accurate and up-to-date information and project management tools in the field; saving time, increasing opportunities and improving the efficiency of account management.
